SMART Enjoys An Electric Celebration of 30 Years

In late June, South Metro Area Regional Transit (SMART) celebrated 30 years of service to Wilsonville.

More than 150 people attended a public event at the Wilsonville Transit Center that featured the unveiling of SMART's first battery-electric buses, wrapped in vinyl graphics designed by Wilsonville students.

The buses are now in service on Route 4, along Wilsonville Rd.

Paired with the less-heralded recent arrival of three new compressed natural gas vehicles, SMART is now operating a fleet of 35 vehicles, about a third of which operate on alternative energy.

"We are proud to provide Wilsonville with new state-of-the-art equipment that support the City's sustainability goals," said Dwight Brashear, Transit Director.

SMART is seeking to achieve 100 percent alternative fuel usage by 2028. The City's battery-electric buses were funded by a $1.45 million federal grant award from the U.S. Department of Transportation's "Low or No-Emission Bus Program Projects" in 2017.

Mayor's Message

Oregon Legislature Advances Bills with Local Impact

As the Oregon Legislative Assembly closed out the 2019 legislative session on June 30, a number of bills were passed with local implications.

The City of Wilsonville, working through a City Council-adopted state legislative agenda, lobbied with others on a number of bills. Following are two bills of note.

I-5 Boone Bridge Plan to Proceed

Our local state representative, Courtney Neron, was instrumental in obtaining a budget note from legislative leadership to House Bill 5050 that directs the Oregon Department of Transportation to produce an accurate cost-to-complete study of the proposed I-5 Wilsonville Facility Plan.

Developed jointly by ODOT and the City in 2018, the Plan proposes to build a "ramp-to-ramp" auxiliary lane on southbound I-5 from Wilsonville Road over the Boone Bridge past Miley Road (Charbonneau exit) to connect directly with Oregon Highway 551 (Aurora-Canby-Hubbard exit).

The Plan found that traffic would flow smoother with less accident-inducing automobile weaving/lane-changing that contributes to congestion.

No More Plastic Checkout Bags

Another bill of interest to many residents based on feedback to City Council is a statewide prohibition on retailers providing plastic checkout bags for customers.

House Bill 2509, which takes effect on Jan. 1, 2020, eliminates the use of plastic checkout bags and allows retailers to charge a nickel or more for paper checkout bags.

In addition to our residents' environmental concerns over plastic bag litter, recycling businesses find that plastic bags are a significant cost factor in terms of equipment being clogged and personnel/production down-time to deal with unclogging plastic bags.

Please join us at City Hall this month to hear more details about the most recent legislative session in Salem from your state representatives during our City Council meetings.

- Monday, Aug. 5, 7:30 pm
2019 Legislative Session Report by Senator Kim Thatcher (SD 13) and Senator Alan Olsen (SD 20)
- Monday, Aug. 19, 7 pm
2019 Legislative Session Report by Representative Courtney Neron, Wilsonville (House District 26)
Additionally, Rep. Neron has scheduled a Town Hall Meeting at the Wilsonville Library on Thursday, Sept. 19, 6-7 pm.

We appreciate the ongoing dialogue with our elected state representatives. Our collaboration works to improve the quality of life for people in our community and throughout Oregon.

Resurfacing of Wilsonville Road, Boones Ferry Road Set to Begin

A project to complete road improvements on SW Wilsonville Rd. and SW Boones Ferry Rd. is scheduled to begin this month.

The capital improvement project is providing new asphalt pavement, updated pedestrian curb ramps, new roadway striping and pedestrian signal improvements along two major thoroughfares. Drivers may incur delays on both roadways throughout the project, which is expected to be completed by the end of November. During a period of Boones Ferry Rd. construction, the road is being closed to thru traffic.

Wilsonville Road: Resurfacing is scheduled between SW Willamette Way W. and SW Kinsman Rd. on weekdays, 7 am to 9 pm. A minimum of one travel lane will be maintained at all times; access to homes and businesses is available throughout construction.

Most of the existing pedestrian curb ramps within the project area are being reconstructed to meet current federal standards. While curb ramp areas are under construction, pedestrian access will be available. Pedestrian signals are also being upgraded to current federal accessibility standards.

Crosswalk enhancements are being installed to increase pedestrian safety at two locations, including the crossing near Wood Middle School.

Boones Ferry Road: Resurfacing is taking place between SW Wilsonville Rd. and SW Boeckman Rd., including full-depth reconstruction north of SW Barber Street. This more intensive restoration work requires a section of SW Boones Ferry Rd. to be closed during construction. During this period, traffic is being detoured to SW 95th Ave. and SW Kinsman Rd.

For more information, contact Dominique Huffman, Civil Engineer, at 503-570-1546, huffman@ci.wilsonville.or.us or visit ci.wilsonville.or.us/2019roadprojects.

Resurfacing requires the closure of a segment of Boones Ferry Rd. between Barber St. and Boeckman Rd.

Garden Acres Road Improvements, Water Pipeline Installation Get Underway in August

A significant road improvement project along the east side of Garden Acres Rd., between Day Rd. and Ridder Rd. gets underway in August.

The improvements are a catalyst for future development in the Coffee Creek Industrial Area.

The roadway is being widened to 32-feet, about a foot wider than currently constructed. Additionally, a protected bike lane is being built and overhead utility cables are being placed underground.

“The development of this roadway provides much-needed infrastructure for the Coffee Creek industrial area,” said Zach Weigel, Capital Projects Engineering Manager. “The new road will be built to modern urban design standards to ensure safer travel, by any mode, to accommodate people of all ages and abilities.”

In collaboration with the Willamette Water Supply Program, the project also includes the installation of a 3100-foot segment of 66-inch water pipeline. Building the pipeline and road together saves money and reduces construction impacts. Learn more about the Willamette Water Supply Program at ourreliablewater.org.

Utility relocation is scheduled to take place by the end of 2019, with pipeline construction getting underway in January 2020. Road construction follows, with completion of the project anticipated by fall of 2020.

A second phase of road improvements, unscheduled and unfunded at this time, would develop the intersection where the new segment of Garden Acres meets Day Rd. and Graham’s Ferry Rd.

Here's to 30 Years! SMART Enters Electric Bus Era

Congratulations to the team at SMART. Wilsonville's transit provider celebrated 30 years of service in June with a milestone event — the unveiling of the City's first battery-electric buses, which are now in service on Route 4.

The buses were manufactured by Proterra, delivered to Wilsonville in May and dressed with graphic art work designed by a team of local students from Wilsonville High School and Arts & Technology High School.

The students (pictured directly below) were given kudos during the program, which also featured elected officials, other speakers, and free Jr. Scoop ice cream for everyone in attendance.

Deric Weiss Assumes Role as Chief at Tualatin Valley Fire & Rescue

On July 1, Chief Deric Weiss became the fourth fire chief in the 30-year history of Tualatin Valley Fire & Rescue.

A traditional “Transfer of Command Ceremony,” passed leadership responsibilities to Weiss from Chief Mike Duyck, who retired at the end of June after more than 30 years in the fire service.

Weiss spent the beginning of 2019 working closely with his predecessor to ensure a smooth leadership transition.

“This is an exciting time,” Weiss said. “Having a change in command is a rare occurrence for our department. We’ve benefitted from having leaders who dedicated many years to this organization and the fire service. I have some big shoes to fill, and I’m honored to have the opportunity to serve.”

Weiss volunteered and served as an intern before being hired by TVF&R as a firefighter in 1994. Since then, he served on the Hazardous Materials Team for several years and promoted through the ranks of apparatus operator, lieutenant, captain, battalion chief, division chief, and assistant chief.

He’s been involved with several local and statewide fire service initiatives, including emergency communications, dispatch, hazardous materials response, government affairs and interoperability.

Strengthening relationships with community partners and exploring opportunities to work with other organizations to create safer communities are among the new chief’s priorities.

POLICE CHIEF’S CORNER

Back-to-School (Already?) Requires Extra Safety on Roadways

The Wilsonville Police Department is pleased to participate once again in National Night Out, a national public safety initiative developed to build trust and camaraderie among local emergency responders and the communities they serve.

Police Chief Rob Wurpes

On Tuesday, Aug. 6, our officers are making an effort to visit neighborhood picnics and other registered events. Hope to see you there, and at other events before summer ends and kids head back to school.

It feels strange to write that — it feels like summer just began — but West Linn-Wilsonville School District schools begin on Monday, Aug. 27, so it’s a good time to talk about school safety.

As our schools welcome children ready and eager to learn, expect streets, sidewalks and bike lanes near school property to be occupied by kids, especially right before and after school.

Pedestrians always have the right of way, whether or not the pedestrian is in a crosswalk.

To ensure that children make it safely to and from school, here are a few back-to-school safety tips for both kids and adults to keep in mind.

Safety tips for motorists:

- Pedestrians always have the right of way, whether or not the pedestrian is in a crosswalk.
- Crosswalks exist at any public street intersection, marked or unmarked.

- Crosswalks may also exist between intersections if they are marked with white painted lines.
- Drivers must stop and remain stopped for pedestrians until they are out of the lane in which you are traveling/turning and the next lane.
- Drivers must stop and remain stopped for pedestrians until they have cleared the lane into which your vehicle is turning and at least 6 feet of the next lane.
- Always signal your intentions when turning.
- When driving through a school safety zone, the speed limit is 20 MPH during times or conditions as outlined on the speed sign.

Safety tips for students:

- Walk or ride in groups in order to be more visible to drivers.
- If possible, walk or ride to school with an adult family member or caregiver.
- Learn about and take the “Safe Route to School.”
- Cross streets at major intersections with crosswalks, school safety guards and stop lights.
- Before crossing an intersection, check for vehicles by looking left, right and left again.
- Wait for vehicles to come to a complete stop before crossing in front of traffic.

Read more safety tips from the National Safety Council at nsc.org/home-safety/seasonal-safety/back-to-school/drivers.

Remain aware. If everyone does their part and follows these safety tips, I am confident we can have an accident-free school year.

Robert Wurpes, Chief of Police

In preparation for his new role, Weiss evaluated what the District can do differently to enhance the services TVF&R provides, starting with a reorganization of work groups and operations.

“I’m looking forward to the challenges ahead and getting to work,” Weiss said. “I plan to have a renewed focus on our people, and I will carry on Chief Duyck’s commitment to innovation.”

City Seeks to Plant Up to 100 New Neighborhood Trees

The City is partnering with local non-profit Friends of Trees to plant up to 100 new trees in Wilsonville. This street tree infill program is funded by a $25,000 Community Enhancement Fund award.

“We’ll target neighborhoods currently lacking sufficient street trees, said Delora Kerber, Public Works Director. “Friends of Trees will approach property owners to see if they’re interested in having a street tree placed on or adjacent to their property.”

Residents who agree to accept a street tree must maintain and care for the tree; Friends of Trees helps homeowners choose suitable trees, coordinates planting events and provides tips to help trees flourish.

“Every neighborhood has its own flavor,” Kerber said. “Interested homeowners can choose from a variety of trees that complement the existing canopy.”

Kerber said the project provides many community benefits. Trees provide shade to lower temperatures, absorb water and pollutants, supply oxygen and provide habitat for birds and other wildlife. Trees also provide aesthetic value, which can increase property values.

A city-wide street tree inventory, completed last year, is helping the City and Friends of Trees evaluate neighborhoods most in need of street trees. Once targeted neighborhoods are identified this month, Friends of Trees volunteers will solicit participants and coordinate a planting party.

For more information on street tree infill, contact Delora Kerber, Public Works Director, at 503-570-1542, kerber@ci.wilsonville.or.us.

Electric Avenue Construction to Begin at Wilsonville Library

In partnership with Portland General Electric (PGE), the City of Wilsonville is set to begin installing a new six-stall electric vehicle-charging station this month at the Wilsonville Public Library.

PGE’s newest “Electric Avenue” builds the utility’s regional car charging infrastructure to support the increased demand for electric vehicles. The library location was selected to provide users close proximity to parks, shopping, restaurants and other nearby amenities at a safe, visible location.

The project supports the City’s goal to provide community members with convenient, sustainable choices. PGE owns and maintains each charging site at no cost to the cities. Each station allows up to six electric cars to charge simultaneously. A standard charge is $3; a quick charge costs $5. Customers can pay a $25 monthly fee to use any Electric Avenue location in the Portland metro area.

Transportation is the largest source of carbon emissions in Oregon. Wilsonville joins the cities of Milwaukie, Hillsboro and Portland in supporting the development of PGE’s regional charging network.

PGE’s original Electric Avenue in downtown Portland has charged more than 1.25 million road miles since its October 2015 installation, keeping more than 515 metric tons of carbon dioxide out of the atmosphere.

Wilsonville’s Electric Avenue is scheduled to be operational by the end of the year. For more information, contact Delora Kerber, Public Works Director, at 503-570-1542, kerber@ci.wilsonville.or.us or visit portlandgeneral.com/electricavenue.

Local Fuel Pipeline Operator Hosts Safety Drill, Public Presentation

Pipeline operator Kinder Morgan held an emergency-response exercise drill and a public presentation in Wilsonville in June.

The company’s two-day emergency response drill was held in collaboration with the City, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Oregon Department of Environmental Quality, Clackamas County Emergency Services, Tualatin Valley Fire & Rescue and other emergency responders. The drill provided an opportunity to practice emergency response to a gas-spill scenario.

Kinder Morgan representatives hosted a public presentation at City Hall, providing details about the company’s operations, pipeline safety procedures and additional steps being taken to safeguard the Wilsonville community. View the presentation online at bit.ly/KMpresentation.

One of the largest energy infrastructure companies in North America, Kinder Morgan is taking measures to improve local safety operations, including the voluntary installation of an automatic pipeline shut-off valve near the Willamette River and the placement of pre-staging response equipment nearby.

The City of Wilsonville has been working with Kinder Morgan and other parties since 2017 on issues of concern focused on public safety and environmental protection. Kinder Morgan operates a 114-mile-long petroleum products pipeline running from Portland to Eugene that provides gasoline, diesel and jet fuel supply to Oregon.

The pipeline passes under the Willamette River through the Wilsonville area upstream of the in-river Willamette River Water Treatment Plant, which supplies Wilsonville and Sherwood with treated drinking water drawn from the Willamette River.

City Approves Rules to Accommodate Commercial Food Scrapping

Wilsonville’s City Council recently approved revisions to the City’s Solid Waste Management and Collection Administrative Rules to support Metro’s regional implementation of a new mandatory commercial food scrap program.

Food waste is the single largest portion of waste disposed each year, according to the Metro website. About a fifth of the garbage sent to landfills is food waste — enough to fill 5,000 long-haul trucks. As it decomposes, food waste creates methane, a powerful contributor to climate change.

By March 2020, businesses that produce 1,000 of food waste each week — typically grocery stores, restaurants, hotels, colleges, correctional facilities, schools and manufacturers — are being required to begin implementing the program to separate food scraps, said Assistant City Attorney Amanda Guile-Hinman. She said smaller businesses are being phased in over the next few years, and those that generate less than 250 pounds of food scraps per week are not subject to the new requirement.

“In Wilsonville, we have about 20 businesses that fall into the first category, and about half are already voluntarily participating in a food scrap program,” Guile-Hinman said.

The delayed implementation schedule allows local jurisdictions to adopt rules that support the program. The timing also allows waste haulers, including Republic Services in Wilsonville, sufficient time to develop a plan to accommodate the new guidelines.

“Republic Services must determine how many additional trucks they may need, how to pick up food waste efficiently, and how often. You don’t want food waste sitting for a week,” Guile-Hinman said.

The program supports regional sustainability goals, diverting waste from landfills. Food scraps recovered are hauled to regional facilities near Corvallis and Eugene to be converted to compost and energy.

Guile-Hinman notes that commercial businesses may be subject to increases in hauler rates. She said residential service won’t be impacted, but that this program could spur interest in residential program in the future.

City Piloting Two “Smart City” Projects to Automate Street Lights, Water Meters

This summer, Wilsonville is scheduled to begin pilot programs in partnership with Portland General Electric (PGE) to test two energy-efficient “smart city” technologies.

In the interest of developing a more sustainable and cost-efficient infrastructure, the City is testing automated control devices on selected street lights and water meters within Wilsonville.

As the City embarks on a project with PGE to replace up to 50 high pressure sodium (HPS) street lights near Town Center Loop with energy-efficient LED lighting, technology is being installed that allows PGE to gather data and make adjustments to the network as needed.

“We can install controllers on the lights that are able to adjust wattage or tell us which lights are out,” said Public Works Director Delora Kerber. “Both the City and PGE are trying to determine the value of this technology, and this gives both parties an opportunity to try it out.”

One great benefit of the technology: it would quickly help the City identify costly and potentially-damaging water leaks.

The system could also adjust lighting to correspond to sunset/sunrise times or even gather traffic data.

“There’s a lot of potential,” Kerber said of putting technology to use to create new efficiencies. “If we can think of it, it can probably be done. We’re only limited by budget and bandwidth.”

Kerber said her goals with the pilot project are two-fold: to learn whether the controllers make sense and, if so, where implementation would have the most impact.

The second project, to test automated control of City water meters, is being implemented at just 15-20 locations scattered throughout Wilsonville. Technology is being installed on the meters that allows them to transmit readings via a PGE radio tower. At a few select sites, the meters are able to be turned on and off remotely.

“It would be nice to implement this everywhere if we see the return on investment,” Kerber said. “Initially, we’ll test sites in different areas, some commercial and some residential.”

One great benefit of the technology: it would quickly help the City identify costly and potentially-damaging water leaks.

“We would be able to tell instantly if someone’s water use shoots up,” Kerber said. “Now, we wait until the meter is manually read, and we compare last month’s to this month’s to see any anomalies.”

Both pilot programs are operated using the same software provider, Kerber said, which is allowing the City to test drive both programs simultaneously.

The pilot project is expected to last for six to 12 months, after which the City will determine whether it would be beneficial to deploy this Smart City technology throughout the community.

Imagination Library: Abdiel's Passion For Reading Began Before Kindergarten

“I remember asking my mom to read the books to me as soon as they came in the mail,” says 10-year-old Abdiel with a shy smile, remembering the free book he would receive by mail each month while enrolled in Dolly Parton's Imagination Library.

“I'd open it up and I'd say, ‘Mom, can you read it now?’”

Research shows that brain development during the first five years of life is important in forming how young people think, learn and act later in life. Once a month, the Imagination Library mails a new book to each child enrolled until their fifth birthday.

“That's the genius of the Imagination Library,” said Pat Duke, Wilsonville Public Library Director. “It's driven by the child. Who can resist a child when they ask you to read to them?”

Abdiel's love of reading grew each time a new book arrived. He associated the excitement of receiving and reading a great book with his mother, with love and a fun learning experience.

“Abdiel is the only one of my children who asked me to read to him often,” said his mother Elda. “Even though Abdiel's two older siblings like books, Abdiel is the child who has a passion for reading. He would grab the book and bring it to me.”

He remains an avid reader. Now in fifth grade, Abdiel enjoys reading real-life adventures and natural disasters from the “I Survived” series by Lauren Tarshis. He hopes to become a professional soccer player someday but he vows he will always love reading!

“Playing soccer clears my head,” he said.

Though he has outgrown picture books, he occasionally has the opportunity to read them to toddlers when he helps his mother at their church nursery.

He says his favorite Imagination Library book was “What's the Big Idea, Molly?” which he still treasures; he finds the plot humorous and the pictures entertaining, and he has good memories of reading it with his mother. Other favorites from his collection are “The Little Engine That Could,” and “One Cool Friend.”

Parents can sign up their children, ages birth to four years old, at the Wilsonville Library or online at imaginationlibrary.com.

Oregon Tech is accepting applications for cybersecurity immediately; an online degree program is expected to launch next year. For more information, visit oit.edu/academics/degrees/cybersecurity.

Clackamas County Secures State Funding To Design Proposed New Courthouse

The Oregon State Legislature recently passed a bill authorizing $31.5 million in state funding for construction of a new Clackamas County Courthouse.

The county is seeking about $95 million to construct a larger modern courthouse on the Red Soils campus in Oregon City. The existing county courthouse, on Main Street in Oregon City, was built during the 1930s when the population of the county was just over 50,000.

The overcrowded building isn't seismically resilient, and lacks sufficient courtrooms to effectively administer justice for the county's current population of more than 415,000.

This state funding, contingent upon Clackamas County securing funds for the local share of the project, supports design and pre-construction of a new courthouse. The total project cost is estimated at $230 million, of which the county will be responsible for approximately $135 million. County officials are currently exploring various local funding options, which may include a voter-approved bond measure.

For more on the courthouse project, visit clackamas.us/courthouse.

Clackamas County Offering Small Grants to Non-Profits Serving Vulnerable Populations

For the 10th consecutive year, Clackamas County is offering a Small Grants Program to provide critical support to local nonprofits that provide services to vulnerable populations living within the county.

A total of $250,000 will be distributed to local nonprofit organizations that provide services to Clackamas County seniors, housing insecure individuals, veterans in need, families of cancer-stricken children, at-risk youth, the developmentally disabled, hungry persons or other populations in need.

Eligible projects must address the program's goal and result in a positive, measurable outcome for residents. Preference will be given to programs that prevent occurrence of larger, more dire problems, save money through early intervention and serve people throughout the community.

Organizations can apply by 5 pm on Thursday, Aug. 15. Recipient organizations are expected to be announced in October, and funds awarded quickly thereafter. Recipients must demonstrate how the grant was used, including service level and performance measures.

To apply or learn more, visit clackamas.us/bcc/smallgrants.html.
