

Wastewater Biosolids Spur Pumpkin Growth at Treatment Plant

‘Tis the season ... for some impressively large pumpkins, which have been growing (and growing!) at the City’s Wastewater Treatment Plant (WWTP), 9275 SW Tauchman St.

During the water treatment process, solid materials are removed from the system, dewatered and dried in a thermal dryer, to produce nutrient-rich Class A biosolids. These biosolids — often donated by the City to local farms and nurseries — are a natural fertilizer for trees, shrubs, lawns, gardens plants and nursery stock.

In 2015, WWTP staff began planting pumpkins and sunflowers on the grounds in order to experiment directly with biosolids and to provide a showcase for their effectiveness.

“We’ve had good years and not-so-good years, mostly related to weather,” said Cindy Kehoe, Plant Manager. “This year, the pumpkins really took off.”

The bumper crop included an array of colors, sizes and varieties. The largest came in at over 250 pounds — a tip of the hat to Lead Operator Chuck Edwards, winner of the plant’s “Guess the Weight” contest.

If you’re nearby, or on the trail that connects Memorial Park and Boones Ferry Park, you’re likely to see the pumpkins scattered throughout the grounds to provide a colorful seasonal backdrop for staff and visitors.

City Seeks Civic-Minded People to Join Boards, Commissions

Local governments rely on community members who are willing to contribute their time and energies to provide guidance and oversight.

Eleven positions are available at the start of 2020 for those civic-minded individuals with an interest in serving on one of the City of Wilsonville’s various boards and commissions.

The volunteers who make this commitment are providing a valuable contribution to our city. Their leadership improves our community and enhances our ability to serve residents, businesses and visitors effectively.

If you’re at all interested, I encourage you to apply. I personally review each application and meet with qualified applicants before making these appointments. In order to be considered, please apply by Monday, Dec. 2, at 5 pm.

The Budget Committee (one open seat) consists of five City Council members and five residents serving three-year terms. The committee meets as necessary. Each spring, the committee reviews the annual fiscal year budget proposed by the City Manager for recommendation to Council.

The Planning Commission (three open seats) is a seven-member panel responsible for making recommendations to the City Council on all legislative land-use and planning matters. The commission also fulfills the role as the City’s Committee for Citizen Involvement (CCI) that conducts work sessions and informal public meetings intended to encourage an exchange of ideas without the formality of public hearings. Commissioners serve four-year terms.

The Development Review Board (three open seats) consists of two five-member panels that are empowered to review and take quasi-judicial action on land-use applications. Every application is assigned to one of the two DRB panels, which then conducts a hearing and renders decisions on all aspects of the application. To a large degree, the decisions of the DRB determine how the city looks. Term length is two years.

The Parks & Recreation Advisory Board (two open seats) determines present and future park and recreational needs and acts as liaison between the City and the community. The board advises the City Council on matters that pertain to parks and recreational services. The board consists of up to seven members. At least five of the board members must live within city limits. Term length is four years.

The Tourism Promotion Committee (two open seats) is seeking professionals from the hospitality and tourism industry to help shape the City’s tourism strategies and oversee tourism grant programs.

Applications are also accepted for committees not currently looking to fill open seats — the Library Board, and the Wilsonville-Metro Community Enhancement Committee. Submit at any time, and you may be contacted in the event a position becomes available.

For more information, or if you have any questions about what board service entails, please contact Kim Veliz, City Recorder, at 503-570-1506; veliz@ci.wilsonville.or.us.

Applications are also available online at the City’s website, ci.wilsonville.or.us/boardsapp.

Leaves Swept Into Roadways Pollute Water, Cause Flood Damage

Fall leaves sure look beautiful ... until they are clogging storm drains, flooding roadways and polluting the water in local streams and rivers!

The City reminds residents to avoid raking or blowing fall leaves, grass clippings or any other yard debris onto streets, as these items cannot be removed effectively by street sweepers. The accumulation of leaves on streets also endangers motorists and bike riders, whose tires may slip on wet leaves.

Leaves and other yard debris also harm waterways, and can starve fish by depleting oxygen as they decay.

Help keep our community healthy and livable by responsibly collecting and disposing of leaves.

Republic Services collects leaves in residential yard-debris carts. Avoid compacting debris; overweight barrels create collection problems for cart lifts. Use recyclable or biodegradable lawn and leaf bags (available at hardware stores) and set them beside your debris cart for collection.

Other disposal methods:

1. Composting: Develop your own organic matter that can be used like soil to repel weeds and retain moisture. Plenty of online tutorials cover the basics to get you started.
2. Recycle: Leaves and other yard debris can be off-loaded at two nearby locations:
 - Grimm’s Fuel, 18850 SW Cipole Rd., Tualatin, 503-692-3756
 - S&H Recycling, 20200 SW Stafford Rd., Tualatin, 503-638-4909
3. Bring them to Wilsonville’s Leaf Drop-Off Day on Nov. 9 (see story below).

Your extra efforts improve roadway safety, prevent flooding and protect the aquatic habitat.

Grab Your Rake! Fall Leaf Drop at City Hall Set for Nov. 9

The City, in partnership with Republic Services, hosts the annual Leaf Drop-Off Day on Saturday, Nov. 9, 9 am–2 pm.

Wilsonville residents are invited to drop-off leaves only — no other yard debris, please! — at the City Hall parking lot, 29799 SW Town Center Loop East.

City Public Works employees will be on hand to assist residents with disposing of leaves into large dumpsters provided by Republic Services.

While no fee is charged for dropping-off leaves, the City suggests that participants bring a cash or check donation for Wilsonville Community Sharing, operator of the community food bank and social-services referral agency; to learn more, visit WilsonvilleCommunitySharing.org.

The City recommends that residents use large paper bags available from local hardware stores that can be recycled with leaves — rather than using plastic bags that are not recyclable.

The leaf-collection event is a component of Republic Services’ franchise agreement for solid-waste collection and disposal services with the City of Wilsonville.

"Will there be a new skate park built and if so where?" - David

Actually, there are three new skate areas in Wilsonville's future; unfortunately, we don't have set timelines for any of them. The future Frog Pond Community Park includes plans for a skate park, as does the Town Center redevelopment. Most likely, the first new skate park to come on board is at Memorial Park. The park's master plan includes a new skate park and bicycle pump track. The concept is likely to be fleshed out in about a year, with construction following when funds become available. In the meantime, if you haven't been, check out the 6,000-square-foot skate park in Villebois, at Trocadero Park.

This outfall area at Belnap Court, in the Rivergreen subdivision, is one of two eroding banks repaired and stabilized during a recent capital improvement project.

Capital Project Stabilizes, Repairs Eroding Riverbank at Two Locations

Water is a powerful force, constantly reshaping the Earth’s surface.

Here in Wilsonville, the dynamic Willamette River is constantly shaping and often eroding riverfront property. Especially as stormwater runoff is taking place, water moves over impervious surfaces and can quickly erode the condition of the riverbank.

To combat Mother Nature, the City’s Natural Resources division recently managed a Capital Improvement project. Crews reinforced two stormwater outfall areas on the north bank of the river, one in the Rivergreen Subdivision (Belnap Court) and another at an adjacent property (Morey Court).

At both locations, stormwater pipes were installed to deliver water down to the river. Eroded areas were reinforced and stabilized using with large rocks, woody debris and landscape plantings.

As a result, these areas are now more resilient, and much less prone to changes brought about the by the force of water.

For more information, contact Kerry Rappold, Natural Resources Manager, at 503-570-1570; rappold@ci.wilsonville.or.us.

Stay Alert in the Kitchen; Put a Lid on Cooking Fires

Cooking is one of the leading causes of home fires and fire injuries. Last year, approximately one-third of the residential fires that Tualatin Valley Fire & Rescue responded to began in a kitchen.

TVF&R encourages you to minimize your risk of a fire by organizing a safe kitchen and practicing these safe cooking tips:

- Keep a watchful eye on what you are cooking — never leave cooking unattended.
- Keep your cooking area clean, including the stovetop, oven, and exhaust fan.
- Keep dish towels and pot holders away from the burners on your stove.
- Watch your sleeves to prevent them from catching fire or getting caught on pan handles.
- Cooking oil can ignite quickly. Heat oil slowly and watch it closely.
- Keep a fire extinguisher in your kitchen. Store it in an easy-to-reach location and know how to use it. The discharge of a portable fire extinguisher only lasts between eight and 10 seconds.

Put a lid on it

The easiest way to extinguish a small pan fire is with a pan lid. Turn off the burner and carefully slide a pan lid over the pan from the side. The lid will “smother” the fire, while turning off the burner removes the heat. Do not move the pan until the fire is completely extinguished and the pan is cool. If you do not have a pan lid, you may also use a baking sheet or pizza pan.

Never transfer a burning pan from the stovetop to the sink or out an exterior door. The fire may grow in size and burn you or spread to a countertop, cabinets or curtains.

Grease and water do not mix

Never pour water on a grease fire. Water causes these fires to explode as the burning material stays on top of the water, causing it to spread and putting you at severe risk of getting burned.

If the fire is large and/or continues to grow, do not attempt to extinguish it. Quickly get everyone outside and immediately call 911 from a cellphone or neighbor’s house.

For additional safety tips, visit tvfr.com.

Community Opportunity Grant Awards Support Two Local Organizations

- I-5 Connection, a community chorus, received $4,600 to support two upcoming concerts.

In March, community organizations can apply for the second cycle of 2019-20 Community Opportunity Grant awards, which are being allocated in the spring of 2020.

POLICE CHIEF'S CORNER

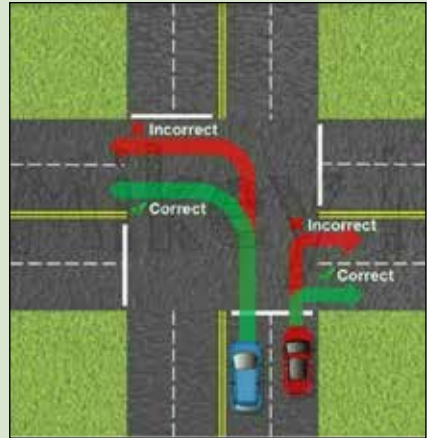

A Lesson in the Rules of the Road: How to Properly Turn at Intersections and in Roundabouts

I believe that it's probably safe to say most of us haven't looked at the DMV's driving rules manual in quite some time. Oregon driving laws do include some nuanced rules worth reviewing.

Let's start with turning at an intersection. All too often, we see accidents or near misses that are the result of drivers who don't remain in their designated lane at intersections with more than one turn lane. Driving distracted or entering the turn lane at a high rate of speed can cause drivers to drift into the outside lane, which is unpredictable, unsafe and a moving violation. The diagram demonstrates the correct way to take these turns. One way streets are not shown, but the rules are the same.

Police Chief Rob Wurpes

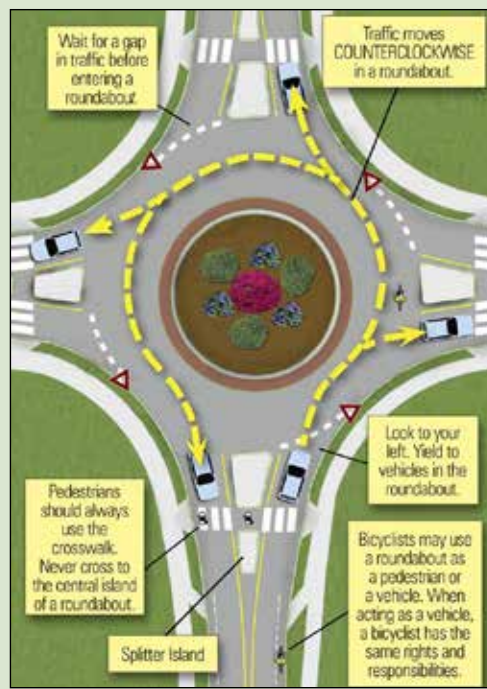

Every time you reach an intersection, pay close attention to staying in your turn lane. This will keep you and other motorists safe and prevent you from potentially getting a ticket.

To discuss the rules regarding traffic circles, I've enlisted the help of Officer Ben Toops, our dedicated traffic enforcement officer. Take it away, Ben.

Thanks Chief. Let's start with identifying what a roundabout is. According to Oregon Department of Transportation (ODOT), a roundabout is a fairly large circular "island." Drivers travel in a counterclockwise direction at slow speeds before exiting; those entering must yield to traffic that is already in the roundabout.

Signs alert drivers and other roadway users of the approaching roundabout. After you see the sign, please slow, look to your left and to your right as you approach the crosswalk, and yield to any pedestrians present. Take extra precautions near schools, where younger children are crossing who may be more difficult to see. Also look for cyclists who share the road with cars. Before you enter the roundabout look to your left and remember to yield to cars already in the roundabout. When it's safe simply proceed to your right and continue around the island at a safe speed. Look for the exit signs and as you're exiting, remember to look for pedestrians and cyclists.

ODOT recommends for cyclists to ride as if driving a car. Roundabouts are designed for cars to travel at 15-25 mph, roughly the speed of a bike. Riders should be assertive so cars will see and respect your right to be on the roadway, shoulder, or bike lane. Bicyclists should plan ahead when approaching a roundabout and enter the travel lane before entering the roundabout. Use appropriate signals to inform drivers of your intentions, and look over your shoulder. Once in the roundabout, don't hug the shoulder; try to ride as close as you can to the middle of the lane. This reduces the chances drivers will pass or cut you off. If you're not comfortable riding in the roundabout, use the sidewalk ramps and proceed as a pedestrian.

Pedestrians should proceed around the roundabout by using the sidewalk, only crossing at designated crosswalks. When crossing the street, remember to cross one lane at a time. Once you have reached the "splitter island," located between the lanes and designed for pedestrians, look again to make sure that it is safe to proceed. Remember, as a pedestrian you can't leave an area of safety and enter the roadway when it creates an immediate hazard. Once you're in the crosswalk you have the right of way but some drivers may not see you, so proceed with caution. Safety is a shared responsibility.

Thanks to Officer Toops for that lesson, and remember to stop once in awhile to review the rules of the road. More information about roundabout safety can be reviewed online at bit.ly/roundaboutrules. You can review Oregon's driver handbook at oregon.gov/odot/forms/dmv/37.pdf.

Stay safe,
Robert Wurpes, Chief of Police

Notable Actions: City Boards and Commissions

City Council	Action	What it Means
Oct. 7	The Council authorized a supplemental budget adjustment for the current 2019-20 fiscal year.	About $6.2 million in unspent funds from the prior fiscal year is being forwarded to the current year to complete 29 capital improvement projects. Additionally, the City is budgeting $3.4 million for the new PERS Oregon Incentive Fund created by the legislature, which provides a 25% state-funded match designed to mitigate future Public Employee Retirement System (PERS) contribution rates.
Oct. 7	Mayor Knapp designated Councilor Joann Linville as the Council's representative to three local bodies.	Linville will serve as Council representative on the Willamette Falls Locks Commission (requires appointment by the Governor's Office), the French Prairie Forum working group of local governments and the Wilsonville-Metro Community Enhancement Committee.
Oct. 7	Mayor Tim Knapp proclaimed Oct. 24 as "World Polio Day," and presented the proclamation to Wilsonville Rotary Club president Pat Wolfram.	Wolfram noted that the Wilsonville Rotary has raised more than $100,000 during the summer concert series over the past 15 years to support polio vaccination efforts.
Sept. 16	The Council provided staff with two directives with regard to the proposed runway expansion at the Aurora Airport.	The actions allow staff to provide public comment on the Oregon Department of Aviation's Aurora State Airport Master Plan and to file a motion to intervene in an appeal filed by Friends of French Prairie on the approval of the Aurora State Airport Master Plan with the Land Use Board of Appeals (LUBA).
Sept. 16, Oct. 7	An ordinance was passed that authorizes the return of more 2,000 square feet of land to property owners in Villebois.	The property had been held for a street that is no longer part of the community plan.
Sept. 16	The Council authorized up to $5,000 in additional funding to continue a rate review of Republic Services, the City's franchised waste and recycling hauler.	The review could determine whether additional collection services may be offered to residents and industrial users without an increase in rates.
